

Fathi Mohamed Algomati

SUMMARY

I graduated from my class at the physics department in 1998, and worked as a Physicist researcher in Infrared Search and Tracking Systems, and Laser technology in the laser guidance department of the Central organization of research and development (2000-2016). During this period, I received a scholarship that allowed me to study for a Master's degree at the University of Belgrade in Serbia, between 2003 and 2006.

Currently I am working as an Associate Professor in the Physics Department at Gharyan University, Faculty of Education, Mizdah, since 2016. I was assigned the duties of Head of the Physics Department and Head of the Quality Assurance Department in 2024, in addition to teaching many courses to students in the Physics Department.
